Biological All about Michael...proud Islip Resident through and through: Michael Siniski is a resident of Islip Town since 1959 and has lived previously in Brentwood and Sayville. He and his wife, Rita, married since 1972, currently live in Bohemia, a place they have called home since 1987. They have three sons and five grandchildren. Michael was a member of the committee since he moved to Bohemia and worked with the Republican Committee of Islip Town since 1973. Michael graduated in Brentwood High School (Ross) in 1968 before attending Suffolk County Community College, Computer Institute Technology and New York Institute of Technology. He began his career with the City of Islip in 1971 as a computer operator and was promoted to the Computer Programmer two years later. It was in this position that proudly wrote the original Tax Receiver Collection System under the then Tax Receiver Edwin Boogertman. He's been involved with the Receiver Office one way or another since. Michael became a senior programmer, a system programmer and operating director. Background and Experience: In 1975, with the decision of Hellerstein, Michael was involved in the rewriting of the evaluator system when the city added the inventory of property and buildings (read, baths, etc.), this system is still in force today. Michael left the city in 1981 and worked for the city of Hempstead,consultant, where he created their online water billing system. After that he worked for the city of New York by assisting themupdate their current standard (so) antiquated system. Michael also worked for Esselte Pondaflex by migrating their programs from a system platform 36 to the IBM 360 computer series. IBM introduced Michael to Sid Tools and hired him to assist migration from a system 36 to the IBM 360 family. This project was completed in advance and under budget. It should be noted that during this period the city hired Michael as a consultant for the Comptrollers Office to assist with their budget system and assist in the tax extension. In 1984, when the data processing officer died, the Municipality of Islip asked Michael to return and assume the duties of the data processor. He held this position for a period of 24 years, with numerous improvements: including the installation of the fiber optic network still in use today, Automation of the Industrial Development Administration where he wrote a subsystem for processing payments In Lieu Of Taxes (PILOT). He has sought updates to Payroll/Personnel systems, created fixed resource control systems for the Comptroller & Purchasing Department, the inventory of hazardous materials and the inventory control system of the DPW parts, to name some of his appreciated efforts and results. Michael's previous work includes the management of the IT department of the Municipality of Islip (1984-2008). In this position, he worked directly with the Tax Receiver Office that updates the collection system by creating a common file transfer tape for the ten cities, in Suffolk County, to be used in communication with the then County Treasurer. After his retirement in 2008, he was reported back in 2009 as a consultant at the Municipal Councillor's Office, where he now works in this capacity and continues to interact with the current Administration and theof the Tax Office. Now that the Aldermen Legacy System is reaching its end of life, Michael is working with the City of Islip Information Technologyto migrate this to the new ACES program of the New York States. When ACES becomes a live system, the Tax Receiver system will require a rewriting so that the two systems can communicate similar to the way they do now. Further responsibilities included the preparation of evaluation rolls, tax extension and tax collection. His wealth of background and experience show that he is well qualified to manage this office. The right man for work: Some of the rumors Michael would like to see improved is the public aspect and the will to improve the relationship with the public paying tax, seeking in contracts with various banks to collect taxes in specific branches throughout the city, as well as the possibility to rent idle bank drive-thru's to collect taxes. This would help residents, as taxpayers should not leave their cars to pay their tax bills. This will mainly help our individuals with disabilities and senior members of our community. As for this idea, there are aspects that will have to be faced before this can be implemented, including the potential processing cost that any bank could require. In addition, continuing office automation to improve day-to-day operations would be translated into a more efficient start-up process and would greatly improve end-of-year processing. Islip IT Director City Experience for 24 years. He has worked with all major departments to provide better and more comprehensive information. TAX OFFICE: wrote the original tax collection system, and maintained and modified as required by law changes. OFFICE FOR OFFICE: Budget system together with the Budget Preparation Door, Accounts / Payable, Receipting system.to help edit SQL for the NYS ACES system. The funds collected are sent to the Composer Office for actual distribution. The funds are distributed to each tax jurisdiction according to Suffolk County Tax Act, with school districts that were completed before and the last county. At the end of the tax collection of the year (usually 31 May, unless it is a holiday or weekend). Any unpaid tax at that time is forwarded to the county for collection. Improving services to the taxpayer by expanding hours of operating collection during the heavy collection period would also reduce potential collection during less heavy periods. I would prefer this slower time period to communicate with the Councillor's office to correct any tax bills requiring adjustment, most of which are court orders due to complaints (which are exclusively managed by the Department of Councillors). I would also like to make appointments with any taxpayer who needs an explanation of the tax law itself, or any other matter I could use to help them reach the right department. Reduce costs would naturally occur by reviewing daily activity and making changes both through the assignment of duties or automation. I would use current communication standards either through phone calls, emails, or my personal preference is, face to face by appointment. I would also like to look for community service organizations to explain the tax collection system and answer any questions thatrise. I also want to produce a small production of power points or videos to review the current tax bill that can also minimize the individual appointments needed by reaching a larger audience toAt the same time. Islip City Tax Receiver is an administrative position, not a political position. It collects residential and commercial real estate taxes within the borders of the City of Islip and disperses them in accordance with the tax laws of New York State property and Suffolk County Tax Act. An initiative that I would like to see changed if elected to this position would be to have all the Real Property in the City of Islip in a searchable online format. The Office Tax Receiver takes numerous daily calls from banks, lawyers, Realtors and Brokers who try to investigate the "real taxes" on a particular piece of property, which is gravating at the office, especially during the tax collection season. If this information were available online, it would be accessible to those investigating 24 hours on 24, 7 days on 7, making it easier / convenient for them to do their job and finally reduce the call volume in the office, thus making the office more efficient. At this time the ONLY position in person where a taxpayer can make a payment is located in Islip, at the Office Tax Receiver. I would like to examine feasibility and if it is taxable, to have position outside (s) in other areas of the city during the "busy" period of the season. This will make it more convenient for taxpayers and our elderly who do not use the online system and who may not like to drive too far from their home. Can you believe that? At the end of Primary Night, last Tuesday, we played an important role among voters in person at Islip. But now, with no counted cards, our victory is definitive and official! Just like it was in Primary Night, we won with a two-digit margin! I will never be able to convey how grateful I am for your support. This is what this is about.It would always have been hard. While Islip's Conservative Party gracefully supported my office offer from the beginning, I knew I had to prove myself to Republican voters. Existing Existing MachineThe odds were against us, but we overreacted. And now, I'm humble to be the choice of Islip Conservatory Republicans to be the next Tax Receiver in our city! We have to take our case to the other voters in our city. Trying our case will not be easy, but with your continuous support and enthusiasm we will do it. Election Day is November 2, 2021. You support me here? Married to Jennifer, a primary school teacher turned mom home for 13 years. Along with raising Catherine, Andrew IV and Joey Parish of Long Date to San Lorenzo the Martyr Father of the Roman Catholic Church, the deceased Andrew, Jr., was 67 years old with the Department of Fire of Brentwood, an Islip Police Officer and an employee of the Department of Planning of Islip. Mother Rose Marie began her career in 1956 with the City of Islip, serving as secretaries to four municipal supervisors. He later served the Suffolk County Supreme Court Justices George FX McInerney and Patrick Henry. Sister Christine is a doctor who practices family medicine in Patchogue and is a former president of the Suffolk County Medical Society Sister Jennifer is a physical education teacher in Sayville and a Ironman Triathlete who has recently been presented for the month of women's history in Suffolk News County.
